

Remote Learning Planning Thinkpoints

A Guide for Classroom Teachers

How will you create a dedicated space for delivering high quality instruction?
How will you maintain a work and life balance especially if you are teaching from home?
How will you set norms with your family about how to best engage with you during working hours?
How will you build a positive classroom community so that all learned feel valued?
If you are a parent, how will you teach and ensure that your children stay on track with their Remote Learning?
How will you work to build weekly and daily classroom routines?
How will you establish and maintain virtual classroom norms?
How will you plan for virtual classroom management issues?
How will you work to build relationships with students?
How will SEL practices be embedded into virtual instruction?
How will the schedule intentionally include breaks?
How will you personalize instruction and provide tiered instruction for students in a virtual environment?
What anchor tech tools will you use to deliver instruction?

What formative and summative assessment strategies will you utilize in a virtual environment?
How will you define success criteria for your students?
How will you utilize cultural connections and student interest to develop lessons?
What engagement strategies will you use to keep students focused?
How will students access the learning if they miss class?
How will you make sure you are delivering high quality instruction?
How will you utilize digital tools to encourage and promote student discussion?
What communication systems will be set up for parents?
What systems will be in place in the event that technology fails?
What pedagogical strategies will you use to balance synchronous and asynchronous instruction?
What intervention strategies will you use if students need additional assistance?
How will you ensure equity for all groups of students (special education, ELL, medically fragile?)
How will you ensure that you collaborate with colleagues to enhance your virtual instructional delivery?
What student recognition systems and incentives will you utilize for motivation?
What organizational systems will you develop for effective record keeping?
How will you make sure you are taking care of yourself daily?	